

Edith Head Named For Top Delta Zeta Award

Delta Zeta Sorority active and alumnae members over the United States met at local gatherings Oct. 24 to celebrate Founders' Day and to learn their 1968 Woman of the Year Award was presented to Edith Head, distinguished costume designer, authoress, and winner of seven Academy Awards. In private life the wife of Architect Ward Ihnen, she lives in Beverly Hills.

A native Californian, she received her BA degree from the University of California and her MA from Stanford University, specializing in modern language. She taught Spanish at the Bishop School at La Jolla, studying at the Otis Art Institute and Chouinard Art School at night.

Starting at Paramount studio as a sketch artist, later becoming an assistant manager, she has been for many years head designer for Universal City studios. She has received international recognition and acclaim not only for her costume designing but for her best selling book "The Dress Doctor." Proceeds from her second book, "How to Dress for Success" are allocated for the education of American Indian children.

Miss Head is a member of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences, Costume

Designers Guild of which she is president, AFTRA, Screen Actors Guild, Scenic Artists and The Fashion Group. She has appeared as guest speaker and panelist on innumerable TV and radio shows worldwide.

Mrs. John Thomas of South Bay Alumnae Chapter of Delta Zeta is chairman of Southern California Delta Zetas' Flame Fantasy benefit which will be held at the Century Plaza Hotel, Los Angeles, on Feb. 8. Edith Head will commentate the style show for her sorority sisters.

Volunteers Begin Residential Drive

The Torrance residential United Crusade drive is under way, following a final planning meeting of top volunteers.

Mrs. Robert L. Jacobs of Torrance, Harbor area residential chairman, spoke at the meeting in the First Christian Church.

She also showed a film entitled "One in Three," which explains that the 244 United Way agencies and 12 American Red Cross chapters that receive United Crusade funds serve one out of every three persons in the Los Angeles area.

Of those receiving these services last year, 153,536 were in the Harbor area, which includes Carson, Gardena, Harbor City, Lomita, Palos Verdes, Rolling Hills, San Pedro, Torrance, and Wilmington.
